The Feb. 11-March 3 meeting of the National Academy of Sciences is scheduled to cover topics including the science and economics of climate change, and the social, cultural and political influences on public thinking and action. Guest speakers have included former President William Clinton and Sir Nicholas Stern, the U.K. government's chief economist. The Nashville chapter of Citizens' Climate Lobby, an advocacy group, is organizing the conference. Press conference About 200 guests are expected at the conference, including about 30 from Tennessee. Sen. Lamar Alexander, R-Tenn., has been named keynote speaker at the conference. Leaders of religious, educational and business organizations such as the Southern Baptist Convention, and anti-apartheid organizations such as the Southern Christian Leadership Conference are scheduled to speak. "The new majority of Americans — and even in Tennessee — recognizes the scientific evidence that climate change is real and is already affecting our country, our economy, the Rise. Why? Hate Crime on the Rise I always hate talking to the girls but sometimes I can't help myself. I don't like talking about this, but the world we live in is not getting any better and perhaps we can't control hate with our words. I've been trying to figure out why a situation like what happened to the students in Indiana would happen. The incident that the students were attending was a hate crime, so there was no way the students could argue that they were provoked. It's like the time I had an argument with my step father and he told me to go jump off the roof. I had to do it or I would be hated for the rest of my life. This was his choice and it had nothing to do with what I did. We can't have the same problem with everyone. For those of us who are in the minority, we have a part of our life that is unacceptable. It may not be as "bad" as having to jump off a roof, but this is still a problem. And we deal with it. Although there is no way to tell if we know anyone that has a problem with us, all it takes is one person to act on their hate and everyone knows something bad happened. We are aware. We have to be. We have to deal with it. I'm not sure if this is a problem, but I don't
